ACCIDENTALLY SHOT THROUGH HEART

Stale Tomson Dead as Result of Accident Which Occurred Near
Cluny, on Monday Afternoon

A fatal shooting accident occurred Monday afternoon three miles north and three miles east of Cluny, whereby Stale Tomson lost his life. Just how the accident occurred will probably never be known. It appears the man had been out with a twenty-two rifle shooting gophers around the stable when he suddenly opened the door, and entering the house said to his aunt, Mrs. Oscar Samson, "I'm shot," and, staggering into a bedroom, fell on the bed. His aunt ran out of the door screaming, and fell in a faint to the ground, but her husband, who was plowing nearby, saw her fall and ran together. Seeing what had happened, he did what he could to relieve his nephew, and then drove to Cluny as fast as possible and telephoned to Gleichen for Dr. Farquharson. The doctor left at once in an auto, but when he arrived at the farm he found the man had passed away. Examination showed that the bullet had gone into his left side and through his heart. After further investigation as coroner, the doctor decided that death was caused by an accident, and that an inquest was unnecessary.

How the accident occurred is, as stated above, rather a mystery, and Corporal Irvine went out Tuesday to make a full investigation with a view of discovering, if possible, how it could have happened.

Mr. Tomson came here about two months ago with his uncle from Vancouver, where the two had just finished a contract on a railway building from Vancouver to Litten, and purchased a C. P. R. ready-made farm in the Onellettville colony. He was about 34 years of age and has a brother in North Dakota, who is expected to arrive in a day or two. The funeral is expected to take place at Gleichen on Friday.

He was a native of Norway, but had lived in the States and Canada for about 15 years. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved relatives.

The wrestling match between H. Hein of Calgary and Anderson of Gleichen, scheduled for Tuesday night, failed to come off as Hein did not come. A good-sized crowd which had gathered was keenly disappointed as a good contest was anticipated. Much sharp criticism of Hein is made, as he did not even bother to notify Anderson that he was not coming.

The time for electing new councillors is approaching and it will evidently be a difficult matter to get men to fill the four vacancies for next year, but let us hope that Gleichen still has enough men with the best interests of the town at heart and the stamina to carry on the work and make this the city it is destined.

A communication received during the past week cannot appear as the writer failed to sign his name. The CALL does not require the name for publication but to make sure the writer is acting in good faith. If the writer will send in his name it may be published in our next issue.

Thousands of geese may now be seen in all the large sloughs.

EARLY CLOSING

It has been decided to close the stores in Gleichen at six o'clock each evening from November 3rd until April 1st, excepting Saturdays. The following storekeepers have signed an agreement to this effect: Gleichen Trading Co., S. A. Hall, Cosgrave Hardware Co., McKay Hardware Co., F. G. Long, J. A. Ramsay, F. H. Blackburne, E. Brosseau, Chas. Bray, and T. H. Beach.

IT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

And Possibly Yet Oil Will Be Found
Here.—Every Indication

Up to the hour of going to press not a case of oil fever has developed in Gleichen—that is, none have been reported. One or two recent visitors to Calgary have returned with slight symptoms of the disease, but have completely recovered in a few days. However, there is no good reason why Gleichen should not be just as much entitled to claim oil indications as any of the many places now vying on a boom. From Innisfail north to Lethbridge south, and from Calgary west to Medicine Hat come statements that there is every indication of oil being found in the intervening localities. Now that Gleichen can be rightly said to be located in just about the middle of this territory who will gainsay that right under us lies the centre of a great reservoir of oil?

We ask the question without joking.

Was it not at Gleichen that Managing Director Dingman, of the Calgary Petroleum Products Co., first started to drill for oil, and it is the same Mr. Dingman who made the oil strike near Okotoks that is now the talk of the world over.

Some five years ago Mr. Dingman started drilling operations about a half mile south of Gleichen on the Blackfoot reserve. For months he continued drilling and at one point struck a flow of natural gas that burned above the high derrick, and which was estimated to be sufficient to supply the town. Mr. Dingman, however, was not satisfied with this and continued drilling in the hopes of obtaining oil, which he fully believed underlies this section. After boring about 2800 feet there was some trouble with the drill, and he had about decided to try a little further south and nearer the Bow River. But just at that time the company operating at Bow Island started the work of piping gas to Calgary, and in order to facilitate their work in drilling wells enough to supply the pipes to Calgary acquired Mr. Dingman's entire outfit moved it to Bow Island, and when Mr. Dingman got ready to drill again he decided to try Okotoks, but he has stated time and time again that he will return to Gleichen to bore for oil. All who know Mr. Dingman here are most pleased to know that after years of hard work he has succeeded and, it is said, is already well repaid.

The Versatiles Coming

The advance seat sale for the "Versatiles" who are to be here on Friday night, has been very satisfactory. It is under the auspices of the Fire Brigade. "The Canadian Express" is the name of the play, and it is a rollicking comedy from start to finish, with twenty song hits. Don't miss it.

The Fine Weather Lessens Grain Hauling

The continued fine weather of the past week is accountable for a falling off of the grain being hauled into town, making a difference of nearly 25,000 bushels between this and the previous week, despite the fact that the price of wheat has advanced. The farmers have been taking advantage of the good weather to continue fall plowing, and as a result many thousand acres have been turned over since our last issue.

However, shipments have continued fairly well, amounting in all to 29,300 bushels. There were seventeen carloads of wheat and three of oats shipped, all of which were shipped from the elevators, save three from the track by private individuals. It is not likely that grain hauling will be general until the cold weather sets in.

There is still no shortage of cars—in fact the Imperial elevator the past week cancelled five cars for want of grain to ship in them, and most of the elevators are pretty well cleaned up at present. In obtaining cars this season, Gleichen has been most fortunate.

STANDARD HAS GOOD COAL MINES

J. B. Schultz Has Lease on Standard's
Coalfields and Is Doing Much
Development Work

The great coal seam that underlies Standard is, perhaps, the greatest asset that the new town can boast of, and it is certainly a good one. In the near future the optimists can see flour mills and other manufacturing concerns operating there.

J. B. Schultz is now operating the mine under a lease from the Standard Coal and Development Co., Ltd., who acquired the property about three years ago. A few of the enterprising farmers near by combined and did considerable prospecting work on 780 acres on which they secured the mineral rights. Finding a good seam of coal they organized the company and disposed of quite a number of shares and did considerable mining last winter. However, as their means were limited, they leased the property to Mr. Schultz, who is making quite a success of it. However, he is somewhat handicapped as the railway company has not yet given him a shipping rate and he wants a spur put into the mine, which is a very short distance from the railway track, but the company require a certain amount of coal on the dumps before they will build the spur, although they have expressed a willingness to build it.

Mr. Schultz was at the mine when we arrived and after loading a couple of wagons with coal from the chutes for farmers who were waiting, he started up the gasoline engine and hauled up several dump cars of coal from the mine and emptied them into the chutes. Then he kindly offered to show us through the mine. Entry was made down an incline tunnel of 75 feet to a depth of 50 feet, from where the main entrance extends north 300 feet, cutting right across the seam of coal, which shows the ledge to be from three and a half to four feet deep almost the entire length of the tunnel.

About 50 feet from the end of the incline, drifts have been made east and west about 60 feet along the lead, which is about as far as air can safely be obtained with the present facilities for forcing it into the mine, but in time this will be overcome by the use of an air compressor. Following the main entrance there are three more drifts of the same length to the west and two to the east. The west drifts are just six feet apart, and from each cross cuts have been made every 18 feet, thus forming rooms from which the coal is mined.

Throughout all these workings the coal shone like diamonds as the lantern light struck it. At the end of the main tunnel an air hole has been drilled and a pipe inserted which keeps the mine well ventilated. The entire workings are well timbered throughout.

The coal is lignite and is taken out in large and small chunks and is all carefully screened before it is allowed to go into the big chutes at the surface. It burns freely and farmers come for many miles around to buy it.

There were seven men employed at the mine and Mr. Schultz said they could now take out coal at the rate of about 50 tons a day, but could easily increase the output to 100 tons daily and will so soon as they get a rate from the railway company for shipping.

TRAMPLED BY HORSE

Mrs. R. M. Mace met with a very painful accident one day last week, and for a time it was feared it might prove fatal, and her many friends will now be pleased to learn that she is recovering. Mrs. Mace was at home alone about twenty miles south of town in the Arrowwood district, and when her husband and son returned home, they found her lying unconscious in the stable, and that she had been trampled upon by one of their horses tied there. It seems Mrs. Mace cannot tell just how the accident occurred. However, it is thought she had gone in to take the horse to water, and that probably the animal had pulled back on the halter, which upon tightening may have checked him, causing him to jump forward, as horses frequently do, and in doing so, knocked her down, and afterwards stepped on her. Mrs. Mace's head and limbs were badly bruised.

Gleichen Oddfellows Have Good Time

At the regular meeting of Prairie Lodge No. 44, I.O.O.F., there was a good gathering of brethren and a most interesting, instructive and social evening spent Monday. Noble Grand J. H. Wright having sent out invitations for supper, after the meeting, which he generously provided himself, and also announcing that grand lodge officials from Calgary would be present caused the brothers to rally for the occasion. Considerable business was disposed of and plans laid for a general revival of this lodge. Under the heading of the "Good for the Order", Bro. R. Hill grand master of Alberta, gave a very interesting talk in which he instructed the members in the general rules and ceremonies of the order and dealt to some extent on the good that was being done by the organization throughout the world, declaring that the Oddfellows could claim a greater number of members than any other fraternal organization in the world, there being more than two and a quarter million Oddfellows on the American continent. He however did not wish to reflect on any other organization, but merely to point out the strength of the Oddfellows and said that the Oddfellows took no second place from any organization.

Grand Treasurer H. J. Adams addressed the lodge at considerable length, gently criticizing the work of the evening and urging the members onto greater things. Past Grand J. Tully, representing the Oddfellows Relief Association, gave quite a humorous address and enlivened the evening generally. Past Grand John Dufor, Rev. Bro. Clark and others also addressed the members before adjournment, after which an hour was spent devouring the good edibles generously supplied and in general conversation.

WHERE NO ONE INTERFERES

In Burma no One Attempts to Force His Views or Conduct on His Neighbor

A remarkable trait of the Burmese character is their unwillingness to interfere in other people's affairs. Whether it arises from their religion of self culture or no, I cannot say, but it is in full keeping with it. Every man's acts and thoughts are his own affair, think the Burman; each man is free to go his own way, to think his own thoughts, to act his own acts as long as he does not too much annoy his neighbors. Each man is responsible for himself and for himself alone and there is no need for him to try and be guardian also to his fellows. And so the Burman likes to go his own way, to be a free man within certain limits; and the freedom that he demands for himself he will extend also to his neighbors. He has a very great and wide tolerance toward all his neighbors, not thinking it necessary to interfere with his neighbors as long as the laws are not broken. Our idea that what habits are different to our habit must be wrong, and being wrong require correction at our hands, is very far from his thoughts. He never desires to interfere with anyone. Certain as he is that his own ideas are best, he is contented with that knowledge and is not ceaselessly desirous of proving it upon other people.

And a foreigner may go and live in a Burman village, may settle down there and live his own life and follow his own customs in perfect freedom; may dress and eat and drink and pray and die as he likes. No one will interfere. No one will try to correct him; no one will be forever insisting to him that he is an outcast, either from civilization or from religion. The people will accept him for what he is and leave the matter there. If he likes to change his ways and conform to Burmese habits and Buddhist forms so much the better, but if not, never mind.

It is, I think, owing a great deal to this habit of mind that the manners of the Burmese are usually so good, children in civilization as they are. There is among them no race inquisitiveness and no desire to in any way circumscribe their freedom by either remark or act. Surely of all things that cause trouble nothing is so common among us as the interference with each other's ways, as the needless giving of advice. It seems to each of us that we are responsible not only for ourselves, but also for everyone else near us; and so if we disapprove of any act we are always in a hurry to express our disapproval and to try and persuade the actor to our way of thinking. We are forever thinking of others and trying to improve them; it is a nation we try to coerce weaker nations and to convert stronger ones, and as individuals we do the same. We are sure that other people cannot but be better and happier for being brought into our ways of thinking by force even, if necessary. We call it philanthropy.—Fielding Hall.

A party of commercial travelers seated round the coffee-room fire were drawing the long bow and spinning yarns of wonderful adventures on sea and land. A silent listener sat in the corner. Presently one of the company addressed him.

Have you traveled much, sir?

A little. I have been round the world seven times.

Then you must have had some striking experiences. Perhaps you would like to tell us one or two?

Well, said the stranger, perhaps the most remarkable was on my last voyage. At one time we found the boat so terrific that we used to take it in turns to go down into the stokehold to get cooler.

No more yarns were related that evening.

It is in demand.—So great is the demand for Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil that a large factory is kept continually busy making and bottling it. To be in demand shows popular appreciation of this preparation, which stands at the head of proprietary compounds as the leading oil in the market, and it is generally admitted that it is deserving of the lead.

An English bank clerk, who imagined that no one was as clever as he, was on a visit to his aunt, who lives in a village in the south of Ireland. It was this young man's greatest pleasure to hold up Pat to ridicule on every possible occasion.

One morning he was out for a stroll with some of his friends when he met a boy leading a very thin horse along the road.

Say, Pat, why don't you get inside and fill him out?

I would, sir, said Pat, if his mouth was as big as yours.

Compulsory Matrimony

The declining marriage rate in so many countries is causing all sorts of suggestions to be made for inducing people to enter the state of matrimony such as the taking of bachelors and conferring social privileges on those who have large families. A month or two ago the rural council of Trino ordered its bachelors to marry or quit the municipal cottages. But all these are exceedingly mild measures compared with a proposal which comes from Trieste. The proposal is that all bachelors who have attained their thirtieth year—a time when a man is at his prime according to Mahomet—should be summoned before the Syndicate together with all masters who have reached the age of twenty-five. Then, after a medical examination, those whom the doctors consider healthy are to have their names placed in separate urns and drawn two by two. The couples whose names are drawn are to be married immediately. This is making a lottery of marriage with a vengeance.

Dix—I hear that you and your wife don't speak. What's the cause of your strained relations?

Dix—Her relations.

What made the canoe tip over? Cholly carelessly placed his pipe in one side of his mouth.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE SUMMER

The summer months are the most dangerous to little ones. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is so such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An elderly gentleman opposed to the use of tobacco approached a young man who stood on the street corner smoking a cigar, and asked him severely: How many cigars a day do you smoke? Three, was the reply. How much do you pay for them? He went on. Fifteen cents each, replied the young man patiently. Do you realize, went on his inquisitor, that you would have that money by the time you are as old as I am you would own that big building on the corner? Do you own it? Inquired the smoker. No, was the response. Well, I do, said the young man.

Removing Things from the Eye

Small substances, like cinders, dust, or small chips of stone or metal, can often be removed from the eye by very simple means. Sometimes the flow of tears washes them out. At other times catching the upper lid by the lashes and pulling it away from the eyeball, and down over the lower lid, then letting it go, so that it recedes, its under surface is swept by the edge of the lower lid, will clear it out. If this does not prove successful, a loop made of hair or of a long human hair can be passed under the lid and swept from the outer side towards the nose and drawn down.

Better than this, however, is the washing of the eye, or flushing with the eye dropper. Have the patient catch hold of the lower and upper lid, drawing them away from the eye, and then fill the dropper, which is like a small syringe, with water, and flush the eye two or three times. This will always remove the cinder at once. Should lime get into the eye it should be treated in the same manner, first with water and then with vinegar, or lemon juice and water—a teaspoonful of vinegar or lemon juice to a teaspoonful of water—poured over the eyeball.

Worn Silk Gloves

The fingers and hands of elbow length silk gloves wear out, leaving the uppers comparatively new. Where there is a lady in the house these may be turned to good use. Place one of the lady's socks on the gloves, the leg part of the sock and the hemmed and then cut socks for the baby after the pattern. Sew carefully into shape with flat seams. Here you have a good, lightweight sock only for the cost of trouble in making. The top should be reinforced to withstand the wear and tear of safety pins.

Railroading in Wales

Holidays, tourists and trippers galore had upset the peace of mind of the railway officials and to cope with additional traffic a strange guard was put on a special train running on a way side line in Wales.

There was one particular station rejoining in the euphonious name of Llanfairfechanpwllgwygch, etc., etc., and in the due course of its peregrinations, the special train arrived at it, plus the strange word.

For quite a time the guard stood glancing at the appalling name. First he spelled it out, letter by letter, whilst the driver sounded a gay tattoo on his whistle. Then, by taking deep breaths, and holding his jaws in his hands, the guard feebly attempted the desperate feat of pronunciation.

But he was a man of resource, he conceived a brilliant idea. Taking up an attitude of great dramatic suggestion, he pointed to the board. Then he belabored, in stentorian tones.

If there's anybody there for here, this is it!

And the train glided slowly onward.

She Had Money

And why, she asked, do you think the world is better now than it was twenty-five years ago?

Because you were not in it then, he replied.

Oh, I am afraid you wish to flatter me. I am nearly 28.

Is it possible? Well, in a way, I am glad of it.

You see, I am 37, and I don't believe any man ought to be eight or nine years older than his wife.

Oh, Horace! How romantic you are! I wonder if any other man ever adopted such a lovely way to let a girl know that he cared for her?

I have here, sir, a book on 'How to Down Your Lawyer.' Don't want it. What's the use of a man learning how to rob himself?

Business

Prospective Employer—Not afraid of early hours, I suppose? Employee—You can't close too early for me, mister.

Keeping Young

Ageless youth is a possible thing from looking old is a perfectly right and proper one, but to attain it one must also keep from feeling or being old. The adage says: A woman is as old as she looks, and the looking and the feeling react on each other. If a woman feels tired and worn, stiff from lack of exercise or listless from lack of interest, she is going to look comparatively old, whatever her years; if she notices her skin becoming dry and lined and wrinkled, her hair thin and lustreless, and her eyes dull, she is bound to feel the dread feeling that age has begun to show itself. To ward off this advance of age, it is essential to keep the body healthy, the mind interested, and the person cared for.

In keeping young the mind has quite as much to do as the body. A secret mind in a healthy body is the secret. And as the body to be healthy requires exercise, so does the mind. Of two women of the same age, the one who is interested in the things outside her own immediate concerns will, other things being equal, appear younger than the other. There are so many things available to all that take one out of oneself. The great world movements of the day—we can learn about them in the papers, though we may not be in a position to take part in them. Books, music, an occasional thought-stimulating lecture, the cultivation of some talent or hobby, adding some philanthropic enterprise—each person can find something to keep her interest alive and add to the fullness of life. Moreover, a healthy interest in something outside the routine of one's daily business—however interesting it may be in itself—helps in the avoidance of worry and undue anxiety, than which there is no one thing, unless perhaps illness, that ages the face so quickly, engraving lines that deepen day by day. Sunshine and air help to guard against attacks of worry, which have a physical as well as mental influence.

Wily William

He came from the country, but he was not green—not by any means. Had a confidence man tried tricks on him there would have been serious trouble.

Nor was he taking any risks at the hotel. London might be a smart place, but they wouldn't catch him napping.

In the early hours of the morning the plaintive voice of his boots sounded outside his door.

What is it? asked William, prepared to do battle with his wits.

Please, sir, came the answer, you haven't put your boots outside, sir.

No; you bet I haven't, responded the wily William. They're under my pillow, and there they're going to stop; I know a bit too much for the likes of you!

Obadiah Blinks was one of those sentimental idiots who had allowed his passions to capitulate to the ever increasing wiles of the mischief-maker Cupid. To put it more concisely, he had fallen in love.

Unfortunately for Obadiah, however, it was a case of unrequited affection, for the lady of his choice had made it plainly visible from time to time that his attentions were positively objectionable.

One day Obadiah turned up at her abode, nothing daunted by his previous experiences. He was ushered into the drawing-room by her ten-year-old brother, Billy.

Is your sister in? asked Blinks, nervously.

No, replied the other promptly. She's just gone out.

Ah! sighed the love-stricken Blinks romantically. So am I like the man who went to the cage when the bird had flown.

No, you ain't, responded Billy. You are like the month of June.

Why, how's that?

Because, was the reply, every time you come May goes out.

Wife—I wish, Henry, you'd get me a nice cloak for my room.

Hub—but I can't afford—

Wife (interrupting)—If you will I'll set it back two hours the evening you go to the club.

Needless Aprehension

She—Will you love me when I'm old?

He—Why worry about that! we'll probably be divorced long before.

Canadian Trap Shooting Honors

At the Grand Canadian Trap Shooting Tournament recently held at Hamilton, Ontario, there was keen competition between the leading shot of the Dominion for supremacy. The amateur Championship of Canada was won by W. Barnes of Hamilton with a perfect score of 50 targets. Mr. Barnes used Winchester Factory Loaded Shells. The Grand Canadian Handicap was won by H. Smith of Chatham with a score of 48 x 50 from 18 yard rise, and the Earl Grey cup, for the High Aggregate of the tournament, was won by R. Day of London with a score of 287 x 300 targets. Both Mr. Smith and Mr. Day used Winchester Repeating Shotguns. The important victories won with Winchester Loaded Shells and repeating Shotguns is another demonstration of their splendid shooting qualities.

Asthma Brings Misery, but Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy will replace the misery with welcome relief.

Inhaled as smoke or vapor it reaches the very inmost recesses of the bronchial passages and soothes them. Relaxation passes and easy breathing returns. If you knew as well how this remedy would help you as do thousands of grateful users, there would be a package in your home tonight. Try it.

A Humane Mayor

The mayor of a little commune in the Pyrenees has just issued the following decree: Whereas the young people of the commune are wont to meet and dance every Sunday after mass, and the noise they make frightens the cocks, hens and other animals of the village, and whereas the result is prejudicial to agriculture; we hereby prohibit dancing within the bounds of the commune during the hours in which the domestic animals take their repose.

The Wonder of It

We wandered on the seashore. We wondered at the sky; I told her how I loved her. She said: She wondered why? I wondered if she'd have me. She gently answered Yes. And then we wandered, wondering. In speechless happiness.

And now since we are wedded, We wonder, as of yore. We wondered as we wandered Along the ocean shore. With just the bit of difference That our wonder we condense Into wondering how we happened To have so little sense.

The Mother (impatiently)—I don't know what we'll ever do with Tommy, he doesn't seem to agree with anybody.

The Father (irritably)—I suppose we'll have to make a dramatic critic out of him.

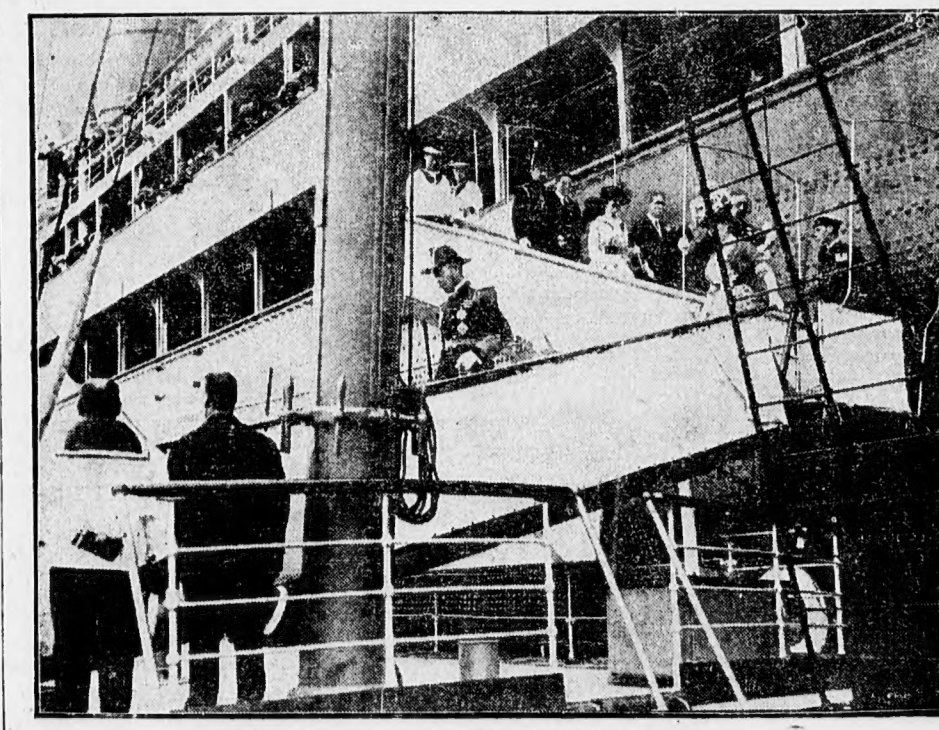

Why has your daughter dropped her hospital work so soon?

She found she'd have to nurse poor patients for two years before they entrusted her with any millionaires. So she's going on the stage in a musical comedy.

GOD WILL LAUGH AT HUMAN PRIDE

An Old Prophecy About to be Fulfilled, Says Pastor Russell.

HAS A DOUBLE APPLICATION

It Applied to Jesus Personally, But Also to the Body of Christ, the Church—The Kings of the Earth—The Rulers Amongst God's People—Their Coalition Vain—God Will Laugh at Them—Jesus Will Deride Them—The Breaking of a Potter's Vessel Will Follow—Those Who Put Their Trust in Him Will Be Blessed.

On the Atlantic, Pastor Russell's text for to-day was: "He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh; the Lord shall have them in derision." (Psalm 2:4.) He said: The vast ocean, on which this stately ship is but a toy, reminds me of "God's mercy, like the wideness of the sea," and also of the vastness of Divine Power, and human insignificance in comparison. Humanity may justly feel encouraged by the progress made in the past century.

Mighty ships of steel, a thousand feet long, carrying thousands of passengers, have replaced the wooden dories of a century ago. Propelled by steam, they are indeed leviathans of the deep. The oceans have been underlaid with cables of steel, carrying intelligence to the ends of the earth. And this majestic steamer is outfitted with a wireless system of telegraphy, by which she is continually in touch with sister vessels and with the world. And these are only a few of the many avenues of progress being trodden in our day. Those not guided by the Word of the Lord are puffed with pride, and disposed to feel that err grandparents a little way back were mere monkeys.

God's people, guided by their Father's Word, and by the spirit of a sound mind, are held back from such delusion. They see that there are not many great or mighty to-day, compared with the notables of the past. They see that God is behind the wonderful developments of to-day; for we are living in "the day of His preparation" (Nahum 2:3) for Messiah's Kingdom, and the Reign of a thousand years. These perceive that God is gradually lifting the veil of ignorance and superstition; and that, according to His promise, men are now seeing out of obscurity.

Withal, our blessings are coming in a most natural way. The printing-press, present-day mail service, telegraph systems and telephones, and worldwide education, are bringing the thinkers of earth in close touch with the world over. Scarcely a discovery made of any kind, anywhere, that is not known world-wide within a week. A million minds engaged upon the same project, with the result that there are still further improvements, still more wonderful inventions—and all these procedures repeated! Surely the only explanation is that God is back of the present intelligence now coming to the world. His time has come to bring blessings to mankind, instead of the curse which so long has prevailed.

The kings of the earth, in a broad sense, include the financial kings and captains of industry, as well as political chieftains. These wise men of the world have grasped the situation only in part. They perceive the blessings and the riches rolling in upon the world through human invention, and are fortifying themselves in luxury and power beside the golden streams they have corrupted.

Thus they have "set themselves," according to our text. Moreover, the rulers of the people—the ecclesiastical rulers and princes—are affiliated with them. Together they take counsel. Their next step will be to put their counsels into practice.

For centuries past kings and governments have been more or less restrained by the peoples they governed. And the peoples have been more or less guided by the Bible, and its spirit of liberty. The new conditions of our day, however, have evaded many of the regulations and restraints of the past. The restraints are necessarily unequal to the new conditions. And the people are intent upon making new regulations to cope with the trusts and the wealth of the financial kings, and with the great power of political kings, as represented in modern military armaments and organizations.

The Bible is the great stronghold of liberty. Through it the masses of civilization have learned that kings and peasants, rich and poor, must all eventually stand before the Judgment Seat and be judged by one Law. This same Bible portrays to the people the Divine Plan of the coming Jubilee of Restoration—the rolling away of the curse and the installation of God's blessing, through Messiah's Kingdom. It shows that the Messianic Kingdom is near, and that it will be inaugurated in the midst of a great time of Trouble, symbolically represented by St. Peter as a conflagration, as respects ecclesiastical interests, and subsequently the social interests of the world.

Thus the Bible stands; and the spirit of hope and liberty which it inculcates is the Divine restraint, the "bands," the "cords," of our context. "The kings of the earth set themselves; and the rulers take counsel together against Jehovah and His Anointed, saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us."

The form which this opposition will assume under the Bible and the spirit of liberty, the spirit of the New Dispensation, is difficult to detail in advance. We see, however, under the guidance of the New Testament, that this prophecy had a very limited fulfillment at the First Advent; and the fulfillment there may give us a clue to the larger fulfillment now in hand.

The Lord's Anointed is the Christ of glory—Jesus the Head, the overcoming Church the Body. This prophecy was fulfilled in respect to Jesus when Pilate and Herod, as representing the worldly powers, took counsel with the chief priests, Scribes and Pharisees, as representing the rulers of the people of God. The religious rulers were leaders, prime movers, in the opposition.

What happened to the Master Himself in the way of opposition from the religious rulers and, under their instigation, from the political rulers, is what we should expect shortly as the fulfillment of this prophecy. The opposition that will arise will be against the Lord and against those who are particularly His representatives and mouthpieces in the world. The federated religious interests, fearful of the Truth, and with cherished plans opposed to it, will shortly denounce it as Calaphas denounced Jesus. His declaration was, "I am expedient that one man perish, rather than our whole nation." (John 11:50.) As Jesus was crucified "for the good of the cause," as seen by the religious rulers, so we may expect that the last saintly members of the Body of Jesus will similarly suffer for the supposed good of the cause, as viewed by the Scribes and Pharisees of our day.

When Jesus was crucified, His enemies supposed that His influence would be gone, and that their projects would flourish. But God laughed at them; for they were really accomplishing His will. It was necessary in harmony with God's arrangement that Christ should suffer. Similarly, it is necessary that the last members of the Church, the Body of Christ, should suffer with Him and enter into His glory, by the resurrection "change." Then, too, instead of succeeding, the plans of the rulers will fail. Under Divine disfavor they entered the time of trouble, which culminated in the complete overthrow of their polity. Here we are to expect the same. The Divine purposes, instead of being thwarted, will be helped onward by human opposition to the Divine Plan.

The plans of these kings and rulers will be measurably carried out because (see verse 1) the heathen, the Gentiles, the irreligious, will rage, will be in tumult, striving for liberty and blessings in their own strength, not knowing of the Divine arrangement for the inauguration of the new Kingdom, which is to bless all the families of the earth.—Genesis 23:14; Galatians 3:16, 29.

The declaration further is that "the people (the favor of people of God, nominal Christians) will imagine a vain thing." They will be deceived, as they are at present, into the expectation that they will be able to convert the world and bring in the Messianic Kingdom, or into believing, as some do, that Messiah's Kingdom has already come and has ineffectually been attempting the control of the world until now. They are waiting now for a few millions to be poured into the missionary treasury to effect the world's conversion and to insure God's will being done on earth as in Heaven.

The picture of God's laughing at the poor human pride which will thus vaunt itself is a foretelling of the failure that will come both to the professed people of God and to the world which will be a great lesson in humility, never to be forgotten. The absurdities of the position would make all laugh, if they could strip themselves of their pride and realize that, without Divine interposition God's will could never prevail on earth as in Heaven.

The Lord's next step will be to produce the Time of Trouble, which will teach mankind the great lesson they have declined to learn otherwise. "Then shall He speak to them in His wrath, and vex them in His sore displeasure." That will be the Time of Trouble so prominently mentioned throughout the Bible, "a time of trouble such as never was since there was a nation," "no, nor ever shall be" afterward.—Daniel 12:1; Matthew 24:21.

Human pride, human schemes, which have ignored the Divine Program, will all in that time of trouble show their weakness. The result will be as described by the Prophet. But "when the judgments of the Lord are abroad in the earth, the inhabitants of the world will learn righteousness." (Isaiah 26:9.) Humanity's heartaches and disappointments will eventually be blessings, as they realize God's great and wonderful Plan, with its length and breadth and height and depth of infinite Love, in the Kingdom of Messiah. "The desire of all nations shall come." (Haggai 2:7.) The iron rule will compel obedience, while the Message of God's grace will, as promised, go forth as the Sun of Righteousness, inaugurating the New Day.

The concluding verses of this prophetic Psalm clearly indicate that the trouble under Messiah's Kingdom will burn against those persons and those institutions which are unjust, unrighteous, unholy. On the contrary, all who love righteousness and iniquity will be welcomed to associate themselves under Messiah's standard, whether they be rich or poor, influential or otherwise.

However, strange it may appear to us now, a serious misinterpretation of this very prophecy of the Second Psalm was made by our well-intentioned forefathers. And that misinterpretation brought into the world a vast amount of trouble and persecution.

It came to be generally believed that the Redeemer would not come to set up His Kingdom, to bind Satan and to bless the world. A new theory rose, gradually culminating in the "A. D. 1844" claim that the Church, before experiencing the resurrection "change" at the Second Coming of Christ, was already the Kingdom of God and fully authorized to reign. Under this theory, missionary work was carried on with a vengeance. The sword, the thumb-screw, the rack and the stake, as well as the national wars, were all considered proper agencies for the enforcement of the Christian faith. This Second Psalm was especially appealed to as the authorization for such unchristian conduct.

It was claimed that, although Jesus was absent, His Church was authorized to reign over the kingdoms of the earth, and to bring them into subjection. All kinds of intrigue and scheming were considered to be justifiable to the accomplishment of the Divine purpose; that Messiah through the Church should conquer the world, that the nations might be broken with a religious scepter of iron and dashed to pieces, or plotted against and torn in pieces by their subjects, as might be possible. The kings and the judges of the earth who recognized the Church as Messiah's Kingdom were accounted wise. They must serve with fear and literal trembling. On many occasions verse 12 was quoted as a warning to kings and to princes that they must keep in line with the behests of the Church—kiss the son, claimed vice-gerent of Christ—lest he be angry and they perish by the way.

As Revelation 20:1-5 tells us that the Reign of Messiah's Kingdom is to be for a thousand years, and that during that time Satan is to be bound, so it was claimed that this ecclesiastical system must thoroughly bind and dominate Satan's power, as represented in everything that opposed it. In full harmony with this misinterpretation were some of the facts.

For exactly a thousand years Ecclesiasticalism prospered and ruled the world—from A. D. 800 to A. D. 1799. The spell which had held Europe and much of the world for ten centuries was broken by Napoleon. When he carried the Pope a prisoner to France, the world wondered. Could it be that the spiritual power of Christ's Kingdom was ineffective against the great General, Napoleon? What did it mean?

The answer came promptly enough that this was merely another fulfillment of Scripture—the loosing of Satan at the end of the thousand years. (Revelation 20:7-10.) The prediction was made, and fully believed, that very soon the adverse conditions would pass away, and the ecclesiastical throne be re-established in greater power and glory than ever before. But instead, Ecclesiasticalism has waned. In September 1870 its last support gave way in the French defeat of Sedan. Forthwith the King of Italy took away the last vestige of temporal power.

Since then, Bible students, and indeed the whole world, are awakening to the fact that no real Millennium of blessing was enjoyed during the thousand years of the past. We see instead that it was a period of great darkness, superstition and ignorance. Furthermore, the whole world is becoming convinced that the blessings that have come to us during the last century are not of Satan, but of God. Indeed, we are learning more and more to appreciate the fact that all these wonderful things of steam power and electricity, with their hundreds of applications for the advancement of science and the blessing of humanity, are foregleams of the true Millennium.

More and more we are realizing that we are in the dawning of that New Day, and that the present time of scientific development and enlightenment is but a preparatory epoch, making ready for the coming blessings of Messiah's Kingdom. The Scriptures indeed describe the present as "the day of His preparation" for the thousand years of Messiah's Reign, and the blessing of mankind.

It is not for us to say dogmatically how soon these blessings will burst upon the world in fullest measure. Some Scriptures indeed seem to indicate that they are very close—impending; but the great Time of Trouble with which these blessings will be inaugurated is almost upon us. The discontent prevalent everywhere is leading on rapidly toward the trouble.

How much need we have to remember our text! How much the kings and princes of the world need to be instructed and to be wise—to serve the Lord with fear, and to rejoice with hope and yet with carefulness! How much all men need to remember the closing words of the Psalm: "Blessed are all that put their trust in Him."

The glorious Head of the Kingdom was exalted more than eighteen centuries ago. The First Resurrection will soon complete the Body of Christ, the Church through which God has designed that reconciliation shall be extended to the world. Soon the Kingdom will take to itself its great power. Under the Headship of The Messiah, it will go forth conquering, for the purpose of blessing, uplifting humanity, for whom Christ died.

Paperhanging.

A good hint for those who do their own paperhanging is to apply the paste to the wall instead of to the paper. Amateurs will find it much easier to match the pattern, and the paper is less liable to tear by following this method, besides saving time and trouble.

Japan's Coal Deposits.

There are 1,200,000,000 tons of coal deposits in Japan. This coal is now being mined at the rate of 14,000,000 tons a year.

Snoring.

Snoring is due to air drawn in and expelled through the mouth in such a way as to set the soft palate and uvula vibrating. The reason a person is apt to snore when lying on the back is that in that position the lower jaw is apt to drop down from the pull of gravity, thus opening the mouth and causing the sleeper to breathe through it instead of through the nose. While lying on the side no effort is required to keep the mouth closed.

Tree Hearts.

The "heart wood" of a tree has ceased to take any part in the vegetative economy of the tree. Its only use is to strengthen the trunk.

Lace Centers.

Brussels is one of the four important centers for the manufacture of high priced gloves, Grenoble, Paris and Luxembourg being the only other centers of equal or greater importance.

Dated Spoons.

During the seventeenth century in England, before the English spoons changed from the round to the oblong bowls, it was customary to date them.

A Good Floor Stain.

A good floor stain that goes right into the wood and is very durable is made of linseed oil colored with ground burnt umber. Rub thoroughly into the boards with a flannel pad and next day polish with beeswax and turpentine or any floor polish that you are in the habit of using.

Electricity in Coal Mines.

Stray electric currents have been found in Kentucky coal mines sufficiently powerful to explode blasting powder.

KEEP HOUSE COOL

Ways of Preventing the Summer Home From Becoming Hot.

LET IN THE GOOD NIGHT AIR.

It is Particularly Important That Attic and Cellar Should Have Proper and Sufficient Ventilation—Neglect of This Causes Trouble.

Keeping the house cool in summer is not always an easy problem to solve. People who have large houses and money enough to equip them with electric fans and other appliances can, of course, keep very comfortable, but it is more difficult to manage it in small houses.

Windows must be shaded with blinds, shutters or awnings and be well screened. All the heavy hangings should be removed and where possible the carpets should be taken up and cool colors, such as white, gray, light greens and blues, should take the place of the warmer colors. Then white muslin curtains soften the light, though many people object to even that much drapery.

The coolest hours of summer are the night hours. Therefore the night air should be allowed to circulate freely through every part of the house. The best circulation is obtained by having windows open at the top and bottom instead of entirely at the bottom. This lets out the hot air and lets in the cool. When this method is followed put the screen in the lower sash of one window of each room and in the upper sash of another.

As it is important that sunlight, too, should enter the house at some time of the day, open all the blinds and windows in the early morning for a little while. Then darken the house for the rest of the day.

It is especially important that the attic and cellar should have proper ventilation. In the former a skylight or window should be kept open night and day; except, of course, when it rains. The cellar windows should be open only at night when it is comparatively cool. Open them at sundown and close them at 8 o'clock in the morning. Neglect of this method of airing the cellar causes a great deal of trouble during the hot weather. If the windows are not closed during the heat of the day the warm, moisture laden air enters the cellar and condenses on walls, pipes, metals, etc. The colder the surface the greater will be the amount of moisture that will condense upon it, and a few days of neglect will make the cellar so damp that it will not be a suitable place for keeping food.

from the downy, velvety smooth surface of the cloth from which the costume is made.

The color is a lovely apricot shade that tones to almost purple in the plushy fabric. The skirt is draped and trimmed with silk frog ornaments of a novel character.

These frogs also trim the smart little kimono coat.

A Powder Box Bag.

A pretty and useful gift which may be made at the last minute as a bag for the powder box. Use a yard of four inch ribbon in a pretty flowered design, cut in thirds, lay one piece over the other and fasten together by briar stitching. Double when all seams are joined, and gather the ends enough to be sewn to a circular piece of cardboard two and a quarter inches in diameter. Cut two of these and cover with the ribbon. Having attached one side, which will be the right side as the seam will not show, cover with the other circular bit. An inch from the top set on a lace bending just wide enough to hold the draw strings and fender or briar stitch it on. Put into it a box of powder, and the whole makes a very acceptable present.

A Perfect Fitting Shoe

is just as important for a horse as it is for a man; therefore one essential factor in proper horse shoeing is to exercise the requisite care in adapting the iron to the hoof. At our shop this matter is carefully looked after.

GET YOUR CANADIAN HOME FROM THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

Wonderfully fertile land is offered for sale by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company at prices ranging from $11 to $30 per acre. There is no better agricultural land than this virgin Canadian soil. It is unsurpassed for all forms of agriculture, including grain growing, stock raising, dairying, poultry culture, vegetable growing, and general mixed farming. The lands are convenient to railways and markets, and are located in a country of low taxation and delightful climate.

TWENTY YEARS TO PAY

Under the Company's new policy no land is sold to speculators, but only to those who will occupy and improve it. The terms of sale are now one-twentieth cash and the balance spread over twenty years, with interest at six per cent per annum.

ASSISTANCE TO FARMERS

Under certain conditions the Company will advance a loan of $2000 to new settlers to be used in erecting a house and barn, fencing the land and sinking a well. This loan is repayable on the same terms as the purchase price.

ROBT. ROWE IS VERY BUSY MAN

Contract For Painting C. P. R. Farm Buildings. Is A Great Gleichen Booster

Robert Rowe, manager of Rowe, Rowe & Rowe arrived in Gleichen last week from the Knee Hill Valley and district, where the Stubbs Construction company, of Lethbridge, are erecting a colony of "Improved Farms" for the C.P.R. He informed us that the C.P.R. is going to build improved loan farms scattered over the province, the work to continue all winter if possible, as they have over a thousand applications in now for them and are unable to supply the demand at present. These farms are sold on twenty-year payments, with a small percentage down and the balance at six percent. The purchaser may choose his location in any part of the country where they have unsold land, pick out his own buildings to suit his requirements, have the ground cultivated and fenced ready for crops and all in readiness to move on at any time. The company will build 700 improved farms in Saskatchewan and 500 in Alberta next year. The Stubbs Construction Co. will have erected by the end of the present year over 100 sets of buildings on improved farms scattered throughout the province. Mr. Rowe has a large staff of painters employed decorating these buildings in an endeavor to have them completed before winter sets in. He still maintains his head office, warehouse and factory in Gleichen and he states that in his travels he has not met a better farming or ranching district than the Gleichen district nor has he been in a better town for its size than Gleichen. He maintains no one can appreciate the climate of the Bow Valley until they have been in other districts and reports that by the end of next year his firm will have branches in nearly all towns of any importance throughout this province.

He left again for Camrose district and other points north to continue his work.

A dance given in the opera house last Friday evening by the farmers was a big success. A large crowd was present and enjoyed the occasion to the fullest degree.

Another light fall of "the beautiful" Sunday night, but it soon disappeared under Old Sol's brightest Monday smile.

AUTOMOBILES

With the advent of 1913 many new cars are noted on the Canadian markets. Both new and old show many refinements and improvements over 1912.

McLAUGHLIN-BUICK builders have made good their claim to a country built car.

A car built for our none-too-good Canadian roads.

A car fitted with all the latest improvements.

The prices are moderate.

Careful comparison is invited with the higher priced cars and especially with cheap cars whose makers base their extravagant claims of present worth on what their cars have not, instead of what they have.

We also have some excellent values in rebuilt cars repainted and overhauled.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Tommy Knew
The teacher was endeavoring to illustrate to her pupils the association of various species of life with common substances.

For instance, she explained, you will always find plants where there is soil, birds where there are trees, and so on. Now, can anyone tell me what we associate with fish?

Suddenly, with the velocity of an aeroplane, a hand shot up from the back form. It was the property of Tommy Jones. Please, miss, I know, piped that worthy.

Well? was the teacher's query. Chips, was the unexpected reply.

Dean Hole, the noted English clergyman, was the leading figure in many humorous stories. On one occasion he was crossing the channel after a visit to the continent, the voyage being extremely stormy.

The dean was a bad sailor and had suffered a great deal on the trip. At Dover he was looking over the railway company's rules on the station wall as a passenger came up. Said the dean: After that stormy voyage we have at least one advantage in making the subsequent trip to London. I see the company carries returning emigrants at reduced rates.

Did your watch stop when it dropped on the floor? asked one man of his friend. Of course was the answer. Did you think it would go through.

Exciting Finish Marks North Carolina State Shoot

J. B. Pennington, of Tarboro, and L. B. Pierce, of Wilmington, tied for the North Carolina state trapshooting championship at 91 out of a possible 100. In the shoot-off Mr. Pennington who shot .22's Club speed shells and a Remington pump gun, the arm also used by his competitor, captured the title with 18 targets out of 20. Geo. W. Collins, of Due West, S.C., broke 371 out of 400 with a Remington pump gun and won high amateur average for the entire two days of the meet. Long run were registered by C. E. Goodrich and Home Clark, each using a Remington for scores of 119 straight and 142 straight respectively.

Ray S. Baker, the author, in an argument on immigration, cited the marvelous speed wherewith the immigrant family, be it German or French, or what not, becomes assimilation into the national life.

An instance of this assimilation occurs to me, he said. I know a worthy Neapolitan, one Paolo Cenci, who came to the U.S. three years ago. Paolo's little son, Francesco, an American citizen of seven, looked up from his school books the other evening to ask:

Say, pa, what year was it you Italians discovered us in?

Advantages of Mixed Farming

The Prince Albert district of Saskatchewan leads the prairie west as a mixed farming country. The Saskatchewan Agricultural Credits Commission finds that the farms in the Prince Albert district are much less mortgaged than the farms in the sections where grain growing alone is practiced. Is there a connection between the two facts? The commission was satisfied that there was, and business men in the west are certain of it. The commission found that under mixed farming conditions not only were individual liabilities less, but loans were more easily procurable, and on better terms, than in the grain districts. The mixed farmers have been meeting their obligations more promptly and satisfactorily. They have, apparently, been relying more on their own resources and less on their ability to obtain credits.

When a scarcity of capital hit the country, they were in better condition to meet the stringency. The credit situation as it has developed this summer in the west may, therefore, be regarded as a strong encouragement toward a more diversified farming. Agricultural experts who have made a close survey of the prairie farming areas, state that mixed farming is spreading rapidly. This is a natural and inevitable thing. Some of the banks have made a staple policy of encouraging farmer customers to diversify their farming enterprises, so as to assure themselves of a fairly continuous income. This is the only way in which obligations can be systematically reduced. A policy of borrowing from crop to crop is an expensive one, and in times when credits are restricted is a high road to trouble. To rely on the banks entirely is to lean on a support capable of much variation. If the Saskatchewan commission could present statistics showing that mixed farming confers very beneficial advantages in financing, as it undoubtedly does, in farm earnings, it would help forward movement intimately affecting the solid development of the west.

VARICOSE VEINS AND ITCHING PILES

Usually Arise From Same Cause—Relief and Cure Effected by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Nearly everybody knows of Dr. Chase's Ointment as the most effective treatment for piles or hemorrhoids that medical science has been able to compound. So much suffering and misery arises from this ailment that one is not long in telling his friends when he has found an actual cure. This accounts for the stormy sales of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

This letter tells of relief from the suffering of varicose veins by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Many suffer from this trouble not knowing the comfort to be obtained by the use of this great soothing ointment.

Mrs. R. J. Evans, 187, Munro street, Toronto, writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Ointment for years. I have been troubled with varicose veins, and find it the only thing that gives relief. For every purpose when a soothing, healing ointment is needed there is nothing so good as Dr. Chase's Ointment." (Cents a box, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.)

A Speaking Clock

A speaking clock has just been shown in Berlin, says The Hamburger Nachrichten. At every quarter there comes from the inside a voice which calls out the time clearly and distinctly: Three o'clock; A quarter past three; Half-past three; and so on.

Possessed of such a clock, we could possibly peacefully bury ourselves in our work without any fear of missing an important engagement. We could surrender ourselves to the joys of sport or talk, when every quarter of an hour we are reminded by the warning voice. In the morning we need not worry over an alarm; the voice of the clock, which we can make quick or slow at pleasure, will do the waking. If we don't want to hear the voice of conscience, we need only switch off the machinery. The invention is due to the idea of a Berlin man, named Selen, whose idea was carried into practice after long wrestling with difficulties by a man named Max Markus. It may prove useful to astronomers, and with a slight change in its working it could be made to call out the times of the stations in our railway carriages. To exploit this invention a company is being formed in Berlin with a capital of $700,000.

A teacher, instructing her class on the composition of sentences, wrote two on the blackboard, one to exemplify a misstatement of fact and the other to illustrate bad grammar. The sentences read as follows:

The hen has three legs. Who done it?
The teacher then called to one of the children.

Harry, she said, go to the blackboard and show where the fault lies in those two sentences.

Harry slowly approached the blackboard, evidently thinking hard. Then he took the chalk and wrote:

The hen never done it. God done it.

During a certain battle the colonel of an Irish regiment noticed that one of his men was extremely devoted to him and followed him everywhere. At length he remarked: Well, my man, you have stuck by me well to-day.

Yes, sir, replied Pat. Shure, me mither said to me, said shure, me stick to the colonel, Patrick, me bhoy, and you'll be all right. Them colonels never get hurt.

Boy—if you please, father's sent the ladder back what he borrowed. He's broke it, and will you have it repaired at once because he wants to borrow it again next Friday.

KEEP SHIPS FROM ROLLING

If New Plan Works Out as Expected Landlubbers May go to Sea Without Fear of Being Sick

The principle of the gyroscope, while simple and generally understood, can be applied at times to produce some very puzzling results, and in order that the method of its application to ship's rolling may be more clearly understood, it may perhaps be as well to review this principle in the simplest possible way.

Suppose we have a vertical spindle and on it mount a wheel in what is called the natural or horizontal plane, the spindle being so arranged that it can be tilted in any direction. To consider the matter concretely, let us suppose that the wheel is spinning at a high rate of speed and that we so tilt the spindle that its top moves toward the north.

What happens? As soon as the top of the spindle is given this angular motion, the spinning will develop a couple which tends to tilt the spindle either to the eastward or westward, according to the direction in which the wheel is spinning. The movement of the gyroscope is thus seen to take place in the plane at right angles to that of the impressed force. This movement normal to the impressed force is called "precession."

In the consideration of any gyroscopic apparatus it is essential that we clearly understand that the movement of the gyroscope does not take place in the same direction as the impressed force, but that this tendency to move is transferred 90 degrees in the direction of rotation before it is manifested as motion.

While in principle the gyroscope is quite simple, the difficulty lies in overcoming the many mechanical troubles that arise as soon as it is attempted to produce results in a practical way.

Many years ago that able naval architect and investigator, Sir J. I. Thornycroft, evolved a scheme for preventing rolling by means of shifting a heavy weight, the controlling mechanism being by means of a gyroscope. Later on, a German engineer, Doctor Schlick, developed what is called the passive type of gyroscope, which utilized the periodic motions of a ship after they had been developed by the actions of the sea for damping or reducing the rolling.

Mr. Sperry attacked the problem from a totally different and more aggressive point, and proposed to install an active type of gyroscope equipment which did not wait for the ship to roll before it began its work, but which prevented instantly, at its inception, any rolling movement of the vessel.

There is a very important point to be observed here. Each tendency to roll is quelled on the instant, and simultaneously with its development, is completely neutralized before it has time to move the ship. There is thus practically no angular motion.

If the reader will remember that without angular motion a couple exerted by a gyroscope becomes zero, then he will readily understand that it requires practically zero work to resist the couple—in other words, when a ship is held practically free from rolling it requires very little power to maintain it in this condition, and this has been found to be actually the case in practice, as has been the result demonstrated. At first sight this may seem revolutionary, but it is nevertheless true, and it is this feature of the development that should work a revolution in our methods of stabilizing ships.

A Boy With a Future

Ma, exclaimed young Teddy, bursting into the house, Mrs. Johnson said she would give me a penny if I told what you said about it.

I never heard of such a thing! said his mother indignantly. You're a very good boy not to have told! I would not have he: think I even mentioned her. Here's an apple, sonny, for being such a wise little lad.

I should think I am, ma! When she showed me this penny I told her that what you said was something awful and worth sixpence at least.

She ought to make a splendid wife of an American ambassador abroad. Is she distinguished?

Dear me, no; but she can do her own housework and darn socks beautifully.

CHEAPER THAN GASOLINE

British Discovery Will Cut the Price for Motor Spirit One-Third

The joint committee appointed by the Royal Automobile Club, the Automobile Association and the Society of Motor Manufacturers, to find an efficient substitute for gasoline, has discovered a process which, it is said, will produce 40,000 gallons of motor spirit annually without in any way depleting the country's mineral resources. It involves the utilization of by-product of coal hitherto unsuitable for motor fuel.

Experts have made a full investigation with excellent results and a full-sized commercial plant is being built and the spirit can be sold for not more than 25c. a gallon, probably for less. The secretary of the committee shows that the actual consumption of motor spirit in Great Britain is about 100,000,000 gallons and that the present price of gasoline is 42 cents a gallon.

Mrs. Bear—Utility? Why, you silly man, I bought them to try to make you look handsome by sheer force of strong contrast!

Valuable Knowledge
The Middleton ambulance class were being examined.
When a certain brainy yokel was asked to describe the circulation of the blood he promptly replied: Well, the blood is pumped from the heart through the blood vessels of the leg and right to the bottom of the foot.
Yes, said the examiner, you are right as far as you go, but how does it return?
The yokel hesitated a minute.
Then he replied: Up the other leg.

D. Jones Cannot be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

GENERAL MERCHANTS

TOWN AND DISTRICT

The regular meeting of the town Council was not held last Friday evening as there was not a quorum present.

You can have the CALL every week from now to Dec. 31st, 1914, for $1.50.

Chicken season will not close till the last of November, this year, so cheer up sports.

Now is the time to advertise your Xmas goods and get ahead of the mail order fiends.

The little son of George Taylor continues to improve and is now able to walk a little.

Jack Boyd and M. J. House, of Empress, are in the vicinity buying a considerable number of horses.

R. A. Allen came down from Calgary Monday evening and spent a day with his former Gleichen friends.

The new Padley block is nearly completed. It is of brick veneer and adds much to the appearance of Third Avenue.

H. L. Briggs, fruit grower of Salem, Oregon, spent yesterday in town and arranged with the Farmers' elevator to handle his dried fruit.

Mrs. T. H. Beach and family returned last week from Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, where she has been visiting her parents for several months.

O. P. Weddell is moving his shoe repair shop from "the little shack round the corner" to the building on Fourth Avenue vacated by A. Whiteley.

W. R. McKie has taken over the McCormick machinery agency of the late A. F. Larkin and advises all to look for his advertisement in next issue.

The Imperial Elevator has already shipped over 100,000 bushels of grain this season and yesterday morning had 20,000 bushels loaded on the track ready to bill out.

J. H. Riley is moving his blacksmith shop from Crowfoot street to a lot adjoining F. C. Vigar's stand on Fourth avenue. Jack says this ought to make a difference in his taxes.

The many Gleichen friends of Mr. Isaac Hooper, of the Revelstoke Lumber Co., will regret to learn that he was thrown from a rig at Lethbridge and broke a bone in his leg. He is recovering but it will be many months before he will be able to walk again properly.

Frank McInenly had a fine crop this year on his farm at Queenstown obtaining 6,870 bushels of wheat from 170 acres, which grades No. 1. He also had a good crop of oats which yielded 90 bushels to the acre. From another 180 acres he obtained 11,170 bushels of different grains.

A large crowd was present Saturday afternoon at the auto race, which proved rather a tame affair. The E. M. F., driven by Hugh Townsley, of Calgary, left the Buick driven by Osman, of Calgary, behind in two straight heats. The speed average was about thirty miles per hour.

On Saturday, Dec. 6th, the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church will hold their Annual Bazaar, consisting of fancy articles suitable for Xmas Gifts, at reasonable prices, and also a sale of home-cooking. Come and see our line of fancy articles and convince yourself of the bargains before purchasing elsewhere.

Last Thursday and Friday there were a large number of people in Gleichen from other points to attend the Stampede, not having heard of its being postponed until June. We understand one cowboy rode all the way from Montana, which gives some idea of the wide interest taken. The ranchers say they will make the Stampede next June one of the biggest attractions of its kind ever pulled off in Western Canada.

FALL CAMPAIGNS

THE FARMERS' CAMPAIGN of harvest and threshing is over. The campaign of hauling in the Golden Stuff is now going on. Our campaign of disposing of FALL MERCHANDISE is now up to its height. The success of our spring and summer business has filled us with ambition to make of fall 1913 a record breaker. With the winter goods we handle, and the staff we employ, coupled with our aim to hold and retain the confidence of our Customers, which we believe we enjoy, we are going to do some FALL BUSINESS.

DRY GOODS Department has been converted into one of the busiest spots in Gleichen. Our space for display is limited, but we aim to carry a collection of Dry Goods and Novelties that meet the requirements of an up to date dry goods trade.

Men's Furnishings Department

We have the reputation of having the men's business of the town, built up by carrying only reliable and well known lines. Our leaders are:

Hudson's Bay Co. Shirts,
Gloves and Sheep-lined Coats

Nova Scotia and Tiger Brand
Underwear

Amherst and J. & T. Bell's
Footwear

Eastern Caps

Carhart's Overalls and Smocks

Semi-Ready Tailoring, both in stock and Made-to-Measure goods.

Our splendid Men's business is a testimony that these lines are popular and our prices correct.

EASTERN BRAND CAPS

GROCERIES

Clean, fresh and reliable at live and let live prices. Grocery trade at this season of the year is always big. We are prepared for it.

Dried Fruits: Customers who have been watching the markets know that there has been a big shortage in all these lines. As a result prices are higher than they have been for years. Several months ago we speculated in dried fruits for October delivery, and struck it lucky. We are now receiving immense quantities of these goods and are holding prices down to rock level.

Canned Foods have tumbled in price. Tomatoes, Peas, Corn, Beans, Fish, etc., etc., will be cheaper, this fall than they than they have been for some time. Dried beans, Tapioca, etc., are also down in prices.

You men who love outdoors ought to know our caps. There's so many kinds of weather when a hat doesn't belong--and a snug fitting, warm and good looking cap is just exactly the thing.

If you have thought that there wasn't any such thing as style to a cap--guess again!

There's style and "class" in every Eastern Brand Cap. You certainly ought to see one--and when you see it, and try it on, you'll buy it.

Your fall business Solicited. The Busy Store's reputation for Values and Service is going to be upheld. Yours respectfully,

J. A. RAMSAY, The Busy Store
